Old Trunk Turns Out to Be Treasure Chest

PICTON (Staff) — Les Adams had several trunks filled with "treasures" which would send stamp collectors and historians beating a path to his door.

He started to burn them, and then, noticing some old letters, decided to take a second look.

What he burned is gone forever. But what he saved should make stamp collectors quiver with excitement. Some of the letters are more than 100 years old.

They bear Queen Victoria stamps, with unique cancellations and postal marks which make them rarer still. They are complete with the letters, mailed from school children in England to their parents in Upper Canada.

Some of the letters were mailed before envelopes came into common usage, and the letter paper is folded like an envelope, sealed with sealing wax, with the address and stamps on the reverse side when the letter is opened up. One of the unusual addresses, on a letter which will be 100 years old this September, is:

Wm. Mullett
Huntington
Upper Canada
North America
Via Halifax.

As an afterthought, the sender tagged on the bottom of the envelope, "Try Moira."

Evidently, the postal people did try Moira and the letter reached its destination. Cancellation marks trace the letter's journey. Among those which can be distinguished are Montreal, Belleville, West Huntington and Halloway.

One of the letters has no stamps, and it appears the postmaster's initials were enough to send it on the way.

On another letter, it looks as someone took the trouble to make his own stamp. Two circles were drawn, a smaller one inside the other. Inside is written, faintly readable,

"Baker Hill, Canada. April 23, 1843." If it was supposed to be a stamp, it must have worked because there is no other evidence of stamps on it.

Mr. Adams, who lives at 67 Union street here, received possession of the trunks when his sister died in February at Crookston, near Madoc. "She kept everything," Mr. Adams said. "She never threw anything away."

Mr. Adams' sister, Cora, married Clarence Mullett in 1902. Most of the letters in the collection were mailed to members of the Mullett family.

The Mulletts, Quakers by religion, came to Canada in 1834 and first settled in Lennox and Addington. Then they moved to Huntington, and many descendants of the family still live in that area. They sent their children back to school in England, and it is their letters that Mr. Adams' sister faithfully tucked away over the years.

Another item of interest which Mr. Adams saved from his sister's possessions is a supplement to the Denver Republican, dated July 21, 1883, printed on wallpaper. The supplement is "an exact counterpart typographic ally, and in quality of paper used on the famous number of the 'Daily Citizen,' issued at Vicksburg the day before the surrender of the town to General Grant." The Daily Citizen was printed on the reverse side of wallpaper, and was filled with civil war news.

Among the stories is one headed "Good News" and for a glimpse of old-style newspaper writing, it reads:

"In devoting a large portion of our space this morning to Federal intelligence, copied from the Memphis Bulletin of the 26th, it should be remembered that the news, in the original truth, is white-washed by the Federal Provost Marshal, who desires to hood-wink the poor Northern white slaves.

"The former editors of the Bulletin being rather pro-southern men, were arrested for speaking the truth when truth was unwelcome to Yankeeedom, and placed in the chain gang working at Warrenton, where they now are. This paper at present is in duress, and edited by a pink-nosed, slab-sided, toad-eating Yankee, who is a lineal descendant of Judas Iscariot and a brother germain of the greatest Puritanical, syco-phantic, howling scoundrel unhung — Parson Brownlow. Yet, with such a character, this paper cannot cloak the fact that Gen. Rob't E. Lee has given Hooker, Milroy & Co., one of the best and soundest whippings on record, and that the 'galorous Union' is now exceedingly weak in the knees."

Zealous Apostle

by Rev. Dr. R. Barclay Warren

Of the twelve men whom Jesus chose, Simon the Canaanite or whom called Zelotes, was evidently associated with the Zealot movement. These Jews deeply resented the Romans as their rulers and were almost fanatical in their purpose to rid their nation of the foreign yoke. Simon was perfectly right in wanting his people to be free. Every nation on the earth should be free to shape their own destiny. Some years ago, Winston Churchill declared that he had not been elected prime minister to preside over liquidation of the British Empire. But Britain has changed and today she is assisting colonies to achieve the status of self-government.

Five families of Friends from the West of England joined their resources and chartered a vessel which they appropriately named "The Friend." William Mullett was one of the leading spirits in this venture and the progenitor of many descendants in Upper Canada. The Boones, Nashs, Shepherds and Sweetmans were the other four families, and landed in Montreal in the year 1821.
Jerome Sweetman's eldest son, James, married a daughter of William Mullett. He died of cholera (in 1832). His young widow then moved to Fredericksburgh, where she managed to provide for her small children.
In time she married for her second husband Morgan Outwater, but did not live many years after. After her demise the family dispersed and were taken to live with relatives until they attained an age to provide for themselves.

James' children by second wife (Mullett) were
